U.S. Citizenship Documentation

Your FAFSA indicates that your citizenship status has not been confirmed. A student needs to be one of the following in order to receive federal student aid:

- A U.S. Citizen or national,
- A U.S. permanent resident or other eligible noncitizen.

Documentation for U.S. Citizenship

- A Certificate of Naturalization (N-550 or N-570) issued by USCIS (or, prior to 1991, a federal or state court), or through administrative naturalization after December 1990 to those who are individually naturalized.

- A Certificate of Citizenship (N-560 or N-561) issued by USCIS to individuals who derive U.S. citizenship through a parent.

- A copy of the student’s U.S. birth certificate showing that the student was born in the U.S., which includes Puerto Rico (on or after January 13, 1941), Guam, the U.S. Virgin Islands, American Samoa, Swains Island, or the Northern Mariana Islands, unless the person was born to foreign diplomats residing in the U.S. If a student has a birth certificate from a U.S. jurisdiction showing that the student as born abroad (i.e. not in the U.S. or its territories) that birth certificate is not acceptable documentation. Acceptable U.S. citizenship documentation for students born abroad are the following:
  - Form FS-240 - Consular Report of Birth Abroad
  - Form DS-1350 - Certification of Report of Birth
  - Certificate of Citizenship issued by USCIS

- A U.S. passport, current or expired, (except “limited” passports, which are typically issued for short periods such as a year and which don’t receive as much scrutiny as a regular passport when applying). In the case of nationals who are not U.S. citizens, the passport will be stamped “Noncitizen National.” Five-year-duration U.S. passports (commonly issued to younger students) are considered acceptable documentation and are not considered “limited.” Passport cards are also acceptable; however, one-year-duration U.S. passports are NOT acceptable documentation.

- A wallet-sized passport card, issued by the State Department, is a fully valid attestation of the U.S. citizenship and identity of the bearer, but can only be used for land and sea travel between the U.S. and Canada, Mexico, the Caribbean, and Bermuda.
