Ausencia:

On Caravans, Raids, and Xenophobia

A Conversation with Luis Argueta about Central American Migration

Mr. Argueta will discuss his forthcoming documentary, Ausencia (Absence), which delves into migration pressures, patterns, return migration, and reintegration of returning migrants in Mexico and the so-called Northern Triangle countries of Central America.

Luis Argueta is a film director and producer, who has been telling transnational immigrant stories since 1977. In 2015, he received Guatemala's highest honor, the Orden del Quetzal in the degree of Grand Officer; and in 2019, the Harris Wofford Global Citizen Award from the National Peace Corps Association.
