Honorary Degree Citations

Vincent Strully, Jr. Doctor of Humane Letters Pioneer and Champion for the Autism Community

In excess of four decades of selfless service, you have dedicated yourself to empowering those in the autism community. As founder and chief executive officer of The New England Center for Children, you have advocated and worked for both children and adults with autism and related disorders, fostering international recognition to autism intervention and the need for increased research and professional development. What began as a single start-up program at Taunton State Hospital has evolved into one of the world's leading centers for autism research and education; programs administered by The New England Center for Children have transformed the lives of more than 9,000 children and teachers in 19 countries.

Your vision and leadership are inspiring and worthy of recognition. Among your many awards and distinctions, you have been named the Social Entrepreneur of the Year® for New England in 2007 by Ernst & Young, the Nonprofit Business Leader of the Year award by the Worcester Business Journal in 2017, and a Lifetime Achievement Award from NonProfit PRO.

In recognition of your commitment to bettering the Worcester community and exemplary work serving those in the autism community, Assumption University is honored to bestow upon you the degree of Litterarum Humanarum Doctor—Doctor of Humane Letters—on this ninth day of May 2021.

George F. Will Doctor of Laws Prolific Journalist and Distinguished Political Commentator

Your steadfast pursuit of knowledge and distinguished commentary has enriched the American media landscape. As one of the nation's most influential public intellectuals, your valued insight and expertise shared through your syndicated columns in The Washington Post, appearances on influential news programs, and many books have influenced and shaped the thoughts and perceptions of countless individuals engaged in a similar path in pursuit of knowledge and the truth. Your appreciation of the intrinsic link between thought and action has earned you the respect of many.

In 1977, you were awarded the prestigious Pulitzer Prize for Commentary in recognition of the breadth and depth of your writing. In addition to writing one of the nation's longest-running syndicated columns, you have authored books on political philosophy and baseball. A lifelong Chicago Cubs fan, your passion for the game of baseball and political philosophers often meet at a unique crossroads adding substance and a distinct dimension as a wordsmith. Your prolific career has been anointed with a number of awards, including best writer by the Washington Journalism Review in 1985 and as one of the 25 most influential Washington journalists by the National Journal in 1997.

In recognition of your contributions to the field of journalism and your thought-provoking bi-weekly composition on pressing matters facing the nation, Assumption University is honored to bestow upon you the degree of Legum Doctor—Doctor of Laws—on this ninth day of May 2021.

HP - Honors Program certificate recipient

* - degree in progress

The Valedictorian and Salutatorian are chosen by a selection committee representing the faculty, administration, the Senior Class and the Dean of Undergraduate Studies from among the students fulfilling the criteria for a summa cum laude Bachelor of Arts degree in the undergraduate day college. In evaluating candidates for these awards, the selection committee reviews academic records and contributions to the community, and interviews candidates in order to select the recipients of the University's highest graduation honors.

This listing of candidates for degrees is accurate as of 10:00 a.m. on Friday, May 11, 2018. This is not an official document of Assumption University.

The Assumption University Mace

The Assumption University mace, and its role at the front of the academic procession, symbolizes the shared goals of the academic institution. In medieval times, the mace was recognized as a symbol of authority, and in the context of an academic community, it has often signified teaching authority.

At Assumption University, education promotes self-discovery, but the true discovery of self must first take into account one's own nature and purpose. The symbolism of the mace reflects the simple but essential elements that make for a full and responsible consideration of self, within the broader context in which there can be a full blossoming of the individual.

An education at Assumption nurtures the growth of several key virtues. These include: the Intellectual Virtues, which guide students to the truth; the Moral Virtues (prudence, justice, fortitude and moderation) which enable a person to lead a good life; and, most important of all, the Theological Virtues (faith, hope and charity), which lead the Christian to ultimate happiness. The Latin lettering on the three bands of the sterling node states the thrust of these essential virtues: Intelligentia Adducitur Veritatem; Voluntas Adducitur Bonum; Cor Adducitur Amorem. The staff of the mace could be considered a lignum vitae (tree of life), from which the virtues spring. The three upper branches of ebony and gold represent the virtues and their impact upon everyone at the University, symbolized by the multifaceted fluorite stone.

At Assumption, it is the community's shared vision that fosters a full flowering of the individual. The three blossoms of gold from the blue fluorite represent the individual coming to full maturity in Christ, in accord with the University's motto: "Until Christ be formed in you."

The Assumption University Mace was conceived, designed, created and given as a gift to the University by Paul A. Cavanagh of Greenville, Rhode Island. Due to its historical significance the Mace remains unchanged despite the transition to Assumption University in 2020.

Academic Regalia

The academic garb worn at today's ceremony takes its inspiration from the 12th and 13th centuries when most students and teachers were clerics and had taken at least minor holy orders. The assignment of colors to certain faculties, a much later development, was standardized in the United States in the late 19th century. White was assigned to arts and letters; red, a traditional color of the Church, was assigned to theology; green, for herbs, went to medicine; purple, the color of emperors, went to law; and golden yellow, standing for wealth and alchemy, went to the sciences. Because philosophy means the love and pursuit of wisdom, in the case of the Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.), dark blue represents the mastery of the discipline of learning and scholarship in any field for which the degree is conferred rather than in the discipline of philosophy alone.

Gowns vary by degree. The bachelor's gown has pointed sleeves and the master's gown has oblong sleeves, the rear of which are cut square and the front of which are cut in arcs. Both the bachelor's and master's gowns are untrimmed. The doctor's gown has bell-shaped sleeves and is faced down the front with black velvet. Three bars of velvet cross each sleeve. Often the bars are black, but they may also be in the color distinctive to the discipline in which the degree has been conferred.

In all cases, the exterior of the academic hood is black, and the interior is lined with the official color or colors of the institution that conferred the degree, in Assumption's case, blue. The bachelor's hood is three feet in length; the master's is three and one-half feet; and the doctor's is four feet. The doctor's hood alone has panels at the sides. The edges of the hoods are velvet, and are two inches, three inches and five inches for the bachelor's, master's and doctor's degrees, respectively. The color of this trim is indicative of the subject to which the degree pertains.

The mortar board cap may be made of soft or hard material and, as its name suggests, symbolizes the role of learning in building individual and shared futures. The tassel is either black or the color appropriate to the subject, with the exception of the doctor's tassel, which may be gold.

For all academic purposes, including trimmings of doctors' gowns, edging of hoods and tassels of caps, the colors associated with different disciplines are as follows:
