Robert Royal Doctor of Humane Letters Catholic Scholar and Author

As founder and president of the Faith & Reason Institute and through your work with The Catholic Thing, an online space where influential Catholic thinkers may virtually gather to engage in thoughtful discussion of Catholic teachings and their impact on society, you have demonstrated a commitment to exploring timeless questions of Catholic teaching. As a resource that explores the timeless contemplation of religion and its intersection with modern political issues, The Catholic Thing, under your leadership provides a venue for engaging discussion, a cornerstone of a Catholic liberal education.

In a society that freely offers biased and opinions about religion, your vocation encourages individuals to tackle the tsunami of misinterpreted information by rethinking and reconnecting to the Catholic tradition, beginning at its roots, to all facets of life, from politics and economics to culture and family life. Your life's work, including your studies as a Fulbright scholar and in Italy with the Renaissance Society of America, has been dedicated to exploring and sharing the essential fundamentals of faith and reason, a primary purpose of the education imparted upon Assumption students in the Catholic intellectual tradition. .

For your commitment to exploring the richness of Catholic history and sharing it with a broad audience, Assumption College is honored to bestow upon you the degree of Litterarum Humanarum Doctor—Doctor of Humane Letters—on this fifteenth day of May 2021.

James T. Brett Doctor of Law An Advocate for Change

For more than 40 years, you have directed a passion to for caring for others in the service of your community. As a legislator in the Massachusetts House of Representatives for 15 years and now as the president and CEO of The New England Council, you have been a leading voice in advocating for public policy issues such as health care, education, financial services and energy, improving the lives of individuals in countless communities throughout New England.

Recognized as a Legislator of the Year several times by a number of different organizations for your outstanding public service, you have also been lauded for your many philanthropic contributions to the community, most notably for being a tireless advocate for the physically and mentally challenged. You were an influential force behind the federal Able Act, creating a savings plan for people with disabilities for future education, training, living expenses, and other supports, and serve on the National Council on Disability, the Governor's Commission on Intellectual Disability, and the Massachusetts Disabled Persons Protection Commission. Your work has been honored with the James T. Brett Chair in Disability and Workforce Development at UMass Boston, the nation's only endowed chair in disability and workforce development, and Bret's House, a community home for disabled adults through Bay Cove Human Services of Boston.

In recognition of your meaningful contributions that have benefited millions throughout New England, Assumption College is honored to bestow upon you the degree of Legum Doctor—Doctor of Law—on this fifteenth day of May 2021.

In evaluating candidates for these awards, the selection committee reviews academic records and contributions to the community, and interviews candidates in order to select the recipients of the College's highest graduation honors.

This listing of candidates for degrees is accurate as of 10:00 a.m. on Friday, May 11, 2018. This is not an official document of Assumption College.

The Assumption College Mace

The Assumption College mace, and its role at the front of the academic procession, symbolizes the shared goals of the academic institution. In medieval times, the mace was recognized as a symbol of authority, and in the context of an academic community, it has often signified teaching authority.

At Assumption College, education promotes self-discovery, but the true discovery of self must first take into account one's own nature and purpose. The symbolism of the mace reflects the simple but essential elements that make for a full and responsible consideration of self, within the broader context in which there can be a full blossoming of the individual.

An education at Assumption nurtures the growth of several key virtues. These include: the Intellectual Virtues, which guide students to the truth; the Moral Virtues (prudence, justice, fortitude and moderation) which enable a person to lead a good life; and, most important of all, the Theological Virtues (faith, hope and charity), which lead the Christian to ultimate happiness. The Latin lettering on the three bands of the sterling node states the thrust of these essential virtues: Intelligentia Adducitur Veritatem; Voluntas Adducitur Bonum; Cor Adducitur Amorem. The staff of the mace could be considered a lignum vitae (tree of life), from which the virtues spring. The three upper branches of ebony and gold represent the virtues and their impact upon everyone at the College, symbolized by the multifaceted fluorite stone.

At Assumption, it is the community's shared vision that fosters a full flowering of the individual. The three blossoms of gold from the blue fluorite represent the individual coming to full maturity in Christ, in accord with the College's motto: "Until Christ be formed in you."

The Assumption College Mace was conceived, designed, created and given as a gift to the College by Paul A. Cavanagh of Greenville, Rhode Island. Due to its historical significance the Mace remains unchanged despite the transition to Assumption College in 2020.

Academic Regalia

The academic garb worn at today's ceremony takes its inspiration from the 12th and 13th centuries when most students and teachers were clerics and had taken at least minor holy orders. The assignment of colors to certain faculties, a much later development, was standardized in the United States in the late 19th century. White was assigned to arts and letters; red, a traditional color of the Church, was assigned to theology; green, for herbs, went to medicine; purple, the color of emperors, went to law; and golden yellow, standing for wealth and alchemy, went to the sciences. Because philosophy means the love and pursuit of wisdom, in the case of the Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.), dark blue represents the mastery of the discipline of learning and scholarship in any field for which the degree is conferred rather than in the discipline of philosophy alone.

Gowns vary by degree. The bachelor's gown has pointed sleeves and the master's gown has oblong sleeves, the rear of which are cut square and the front of which are cut in arcs. Both the bachelor's and master's gowns are untrimmed. The doctor's gown has bell-shaped sleeves and is faced down the front with black velvet. Three bars of velvet cross each sleeve. Often the bars are black, but they may also be in the color distinctive to the discipline in which the degree has been conferred.

In all cases, the exterior of the academic hood is black, and the interior is lined with the official color or colors of the institution that conferred the degree, in Assumption's case, blue. The bachelor's hood is three feet in length; the master's is three and one-half feet; and the doctor's is four feet. The doctor's hood alone has panels at the sides. The edges of the hoods are velvet, and are two inches, three inches and five inches for the bachelor's, master's and doctor's degrees, respectively. The color of this trim is indicative of the subject to which the degree pertains.

The mortar board cap may be made of soft or hard material and, as its name suggests, symbolizes the role of learning in building individual and shared futures. The tassel is either black or the color appropriate to the subject, with the exception of the doctor's tassel, which may be gold.

For all academic purposes, including trimmings of doctors' gowns, edging of hoods and tassels of caps, the colors associated with different disciplines are as follows:

Agriculture.....	maize
Arts, Letters and Humanities.....	white
Commerce, Accountancy and Business.....	drab
Economics.....	copper
Education.....	light blue
Fine Arts.....	brown
Law.....	purple
Library Science.....	lemon
Medicine.....	green
Music.....	pink
Oratory.....	silver gray
Philosophy.....	dark blue
Physical Education.....	sage green
Science.....	golden
Theology.....	scarlet
